Period for Reply

A SHORTENED STATUTORY PERIOD FOR REPLY IS SET TO EXPIRE 3 MONTH(S) FROM THE MAILING DATE OF THIS COMMUNICATION.

- Extensions of time may be available under the provisions of 37 CFR 1.136(a). In no event, however, may a reply be timely filed after SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- If the period for reply specified above is less than thirty (30) days, a reply within the statutory minimum of thirty (30) days will be considered timely.
- If NO period for reply is specified above, the maximum statutory period will apply and will expire SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- Failure to reply within the set or extended period for reply will, by statute, cause the application to become ABANDONED (35 U.S.C. § 133). Any reply received by the Office later than three months after the mailing date of this communication, even if timely filed, may reduce any earned patent term adjustment. See 37 CFR 1.704(b).

DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

Claims 1-4 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Wu US Patent 6305948.

Regarding claim 1, Wu discloses a resilient contact element comprising:

- a unitary conductive contact strip that has a strip axis and that is bent to configure the contact strip with an elongate mounting section to be disposed on a mounting plane, the mounting section having a front end portion and a rear end portion opposite to the front end portion along the strip axis, (for example, see elements 342, Figs 2-4)
- a curved section having a concave configuration relative to the mounting plane, and including a first curved segment that curves rearwardly from the rear end portion away from the mounting plane, and a second curved segment that curves rearwardly from the first curved segment toward the mounting plane, (for example, see elements 30, Figs 2-4)

Art Unit: 2841

- a resilient section that curves forwardly from the second curved segment away from the mounting plane the resilient section having a first end connected to the second curved segment, and a second end opposite to the first end along the strip axis and an elongate contact section extending forwardly from the second end of the resilient section and generally parallel to and spaced apart from the mounting section(for example, see elements 321, Figs 2-4)

Regarding claim 2, Wu discloses wherein the contact section has a connecting portion connected to the resilient section, and a distal portion opposite to the connecting portion along the strip axis, the contact strip being further configured with a blocking section that extends inclinedly from the distal portion of the contact section toward the mounting plane, and that is disposed in front of the front end portion of the mounting section(for example, see elements 32, Figs 2-4)

Regarding claim 3, Wu discloses wherein the blocking section has a length sufficient to extend beyond the mounting plane(for example, see elements 32, Figs 2-4)

Regarding claim 4, Wu discloses wherein the resilient section and the curved section cooperate to form a contour that is shaped as three-quarters of a circle(for example, see elements 30, Figs 2-4)
